This supplement applies to all personnel assigned to 51st Fighter Wing.

AFI 31-206, 1 August 2001, is supplemented as follows:

2.7. The 51st Security Forces Squadron will not operate a “lost and found” property function. The investigations section may receive found property with a replacement value of $500 or more, items in which the owner is known or may otherwise reasonably be located, all items considered contraband, and items considered inherently dangerous to the public.

2.7.1. AF Form 52, Evidence or Acquired Property Tag, will be used as a receipt for lost, found or acquired property.

2.7.2. Locally developed procedures will be used to log and track all lost, found or acquired property.

2.7.3. Lost, found or acquired property will be stored in the evidence room and will be clearly separated from stored evidence.

2.7.4. Base agencies (i.e., squadron facilities, Army Air Force Exchange Service (AAFES) facilities, billeting, hospitals, fitness center, etc.) will maintain property not mentioned earlier found within or around their facility in a designated “lost and found” area for a period of not less than 45 days. Items found may be donated to a non-appropriated funds instrumentality (NAFI), for example, the auto hobby shop. Items may also be donated to a military or private charity, for example, Airman’s Attic. Property not mentioned earlier found within the housing area, roadways, etc., will be brought directly to the Airman’s Attic, where it will also be maintained for a period of not less than 45 days.
